

Creative tools blur the lines between a creator and a consumer

Similar to text, photo, and video - music is a participatory medium that enables self-expression.

But music creation is still not easy.